

So how do I make money?

By ordering your wreaths from Down on the Farm Maine Wreaths you can set your own sale price. By attaching your own decoratives, you can increase your profits even more! In most cases you can double your money.

How long will it take?

The earlier you can place your order the better the chance of receiving your order on a desired date. We work very hard to try to accommodate all of our customer's schedules. We strongly encourage early orders as this is a high demand period. We encourage estimated orders by early November, if possible, to ensure product availability.

How do I place an order?

Once your group is set up with our fundraiser program, we will set an order due date that allows us time to freshly craft your products for your target delivery date. We'll supply you with an order form that can be emailed to us. We will review the order and place it into our crafting schedule before emailing you back an order confirmation invoice. You can even call us to place an order if you would like.

What can my group expect?

We talk with our fundraiser customers several times from before the order is placed to after the shipment. Down on the Farm Maine Wreaths provides good old fashioned friendly service. We will work with you to make your fundraiser a successful event.

Sales Promotion

We recommend organizations set up a prepaid sales event. This allows your group to receive your sales money upfront to cover your costs of the Christmas products. If you would like Down on the Farm Maine Wreaths will provide you with some personalized promotional materials and a basic sales packet for the fundraising event. We work with our groups to personalize the event to fit their needs.

How much should we charge?

You know your market area the best, but it's not uncommon for groups to charge between $25.00—$30.00 or more for a decorated wreath.

How many do I have to order?

To qualify for our fundraiser prices a minimum order of 50 pieces is encouraged.

How will the wreaths arrive?

We ship bulk rate via UPS ground service. For organizations in Maine, some direct delivery options are available.
